FOREST GROVE, June 19. Forest Grove, June 19.

The twenty-sixth annual exercises of the alumni of Pacific university were held at the Congregational church at 8 P.M. The first exercise was a "Serenade" by Miss Mabel Gray of Salem, whose rendition was so pleasing that she was enthusiastically encored. Rev. Myren Eells, class of '66, from Skokemish, W. T., led in an appropriate prayer, after which the president of the society, Mr. E. P. McCormack, class of '74, introduced as the crator of the evening, Hon W. M. Parrett, class of '75, who gave a masterly address of the "Yos-sibilities of Success," showing from an array of facts that the conditions which seem most disadvantageous are really the conditions, under which we access is most often achieved the present state of the backets of the present state of the hope of the present state for the hope of immentating. This was followed by a duct "Io vivo E'tamo," by Miss Maggie Marcum, class of '83, and Miss Mr. bel Gray, of which it is sufficient to say that nothing during the exercises was better received.

Hon. Napoleon Davis, class of '83, lelivered a short and pointed address on the topic of "Language to the advancement of the world, and that willoud it science and mathematics would be unatsinable. ALUMKI EXELCISES.

without it science and mailemanus would be attainable.

Som R. Stott, class of '78, delivered the "annsis" in a way instructive and entertaining to all who heard him. Had he read a little louder many more would have heard him. The alumni feel under special obligations not only to Massa Macrun and Iray, fortheir aribitic rendering of choice much, but also to Miss Florence Merges, who so ably presided at the plano.

This is "spricky," indeed, but it contains, it little some as there usually is in hysterical attention. Honit's rates from Walls Walls are exactly the same as those of the). R. & N.; and no one supposes they are kely to be less. The Union "goes off" very nuch after the manner of the Journal, thus. Walks Walla will not give up the advantages it receiving from "the Hunt read" and submit to come the bond slove of the O. R. & N. The agreement with Mr. Hunt for the satisfact of the satisfact of the Oregot with Mr. Hunt for the satisfact of the satisfact of the Oregot with produce of Walls walls country to Paget sound for the intest damped by the O.M. & M. Do, to carry it to Postland, the bonds oratheir value, shall be returned to Walls walls country, The sugreement is for all time, not for the present year, and the penalty is great amough to leaves the estimad company, repre-sented by Mr. Hunt, to carry out its part. In view of the threats saids by Villard and the Postland supers, it is necessary for Walls will to be so one start in support of the agreement for a nucled made with Mr. Hunt. The who now re-tease to said the rettion saking the legislature to enemy of Walla Walla.

Of course, if the people of Walla Walla want to give Mr. Hant $250,000 for extending his read beyond their city, it is, their own business. Yet nothing is more certain than thus the the rates charged on the Hunt lines will he as high as those charged on the O. R. & N.; and hence there will be no difference in rates, whether the Hunt roads remain as they are a me he pornounted into axin as they are, or are incorporated into he O. R. & R. system. The insis of the greement made by all the rada is a truce, adder which common rates are to be mainiped. There is no occasion for solicitude either at Walls Walls or Portland about the des-tiny of the Hunt-lines What Mr. Villard said in his speech here was simply a bit o "taffy" for a Portland audience. The Hun lines are the private enterprise of Mr. Hun Simself and certain uses of the Northern Pa-offic; and they have been constructed for the double purpose of adding the Northern and for private speculation. It is very probable that these times would be sold to the O. a N. if the latter would offer for thom i otherwise. If the time ever comes when the O. R. & N. shall think it worth while to pay Mr. Hunt and his backers a sum big enough o cover the expectations they have formed of their scheme of speculation and profit, it will get the Hunt ronds; and nothing that may be said at Portland or feared at Watin Walls will affect the matter one way or an-

On no other basis could these relations have On no other basis cou a these retained have been maintained; and on this same basis of mutual advantage and profit they will be confinued. Rage of hysterical declamation no more controls the laws of business than the shricks of prohibition orators affect those of hydrodynamics.

Kansas takes her accustomed turn in the tine of disaster. Valleys flooded crops destroyed, dranched people fleeing to the hills and a number caught in the torrent and hills and a number cargat in the torrent and drowned in the familiar record of a cloud-burst in one of the western counties a few days ago. In these two or three weeks of disaster in other pieces Oregon has had nothing more serious to complain of than an over abundant Irait supply, a few days in which the mercury went up into the finaties and a municipal election in the metropolis that called the worst element to the polis in that called the worst element to the p man cance use worst element to the polis in sharp contention between two factions, neither of which represented any more reputable, or responsible idea than that founded on a burning desire to control the city offices. While there are a few people in rolly offices. While there are a law people in Portland who fiel as if a Kansas cyclone had struck them, the general public's screne and happy, having only heard of the storm without having felt its fory.

Pennsylvania comes nobly to the relief of Pennsylvania comes nobly to the reliaf of her citizens made homeless by the disaster in the Conemany valley, by terrishing lumber to build houses and temporary business buildings for them. This is supplemental to thousands of dollars distributed in food, plothing and tents for the reliaf of pressing measurables. The effort from this on will be directed toward putting the helpless people. in a position to help themselves, the only help that does not become tired of the re-peated demands mac upon it. Houses to shelter them and work to do is what these people now need, and it is the truest chasity that first provides these and then withdraws from the scene of the great calamity, leaving its survivors to again become self-sustaining.

The machinery palace of the Paris expo The machinery palace of the Paris expo-sition is the largest building ever-constructed under a single mod. It is nearly 1400 feet long, 370 feet wide and its hight is 170 feet. A gallery 20 lest from the floor extends the entire length on both sides. The American machinery occupies one third of the cutirs space of this building. The individual enter-pties shown in making the exhibit may be inferred from the fact that Edison's exhibit occupies one half of the American frontage, eccupies one half of the American frostege, covering 2000 square feet. White I be entire covering 2000 square feet. Ware 1 we may exhibit reflects or citie upon the invention gamins of the people of the United States.

ONE OF A PESTIFEROUS MORDE. President Harrison has been abarply criticised by the press and issders of his party for the blunder made in the appointment of Beverly Tucker, of Wast Varguin, as commissioner to Hayfi. This man is characterixed as one of the most infamous of the rebel horde who brought edium upon the South-ern character. Everyone whose memory runs back to the events of the war, and every student of history who has refreshed his ery student of history who has retreshed his memory by a study of these events, recalls the fact that Tucker was not simply a Confederate, fighting openly for what he bonestly believed to be right, but a pestigrous meak of the Jacob Thompson and Luke P Blackburn order, whose warlike methods were concentrated in plots to burn Northern either entryes to have the problem for into cities, schemes to import yellow fever into the North, and conspiracies to assassinate Union soldiers The overaght of the presdent in making the appointment was promptly remedied by the withdrawal of Tucker's commission but the man was so unfamous that patriotic republicans can scarcely forgive their representative for the blunder of naming his name in connection with a position of honor and trust.

There are errors o's judgment, errors of honest opinion, errors that are the outgrowth of sectional pride cefended with drawn sword upon the dpen field, which at this late day, a nation, strong in peace and happy in prosperity, can afford to forgive and forget. But not to these belong the malignant methods of the coward, the insidious methods of the conspirator or the deadly methods of the trailorous assassin. The authors of deeds from which scrupflous Confederates, even in the while heat of conflict, shrunk in horror, have to claim upon the forgive-ness of patriotism. The unblushing effrontery of a man whose name appears up con-nection with the trial of the conspirators in the assissination of President Lincoln, as one who not only encouraged the plot but one who not only encouraged the profit of repotted openly at its success, in asking favor of a resultion administration, is equaled only by the infamy that caused his name to have come before the public at all. It is one thing to show a conciliatory temper toward the South, it is quite another to bonor by government commission any one of the villams who discained the methods of open cayabased warfare, but were industrious in scheming for the destruction of patriots through plots that honorable formen in any country reject with scorn No government can afford to honor a malignant traitor, since in so doing it discounts patriotism seainst a possible future reckoning. wherein its full value as a national security will be a necessary adjunct to the continu-since of national life and prosperity

WEALTH

Andrew Carnegie's essay on "Wealth," in the North American Review, calls out buter animadversion from writers who deprecate the accumulation of great fortunes, but who might as well decry the genus of Daniel Webster or Prince Blamarck, ordeny the power of a Kansas cyclone, or the flood the power of a Kansas cyclone, or the flood that recently swept a way the cutes of Pennsylvania, as to doubt that great fortunes will as naturally exist as the initial facts we have allided to One writer despunces Carnagle himself as a great fortune in his adopted country and wealth to poverty, and with supercitious words talks of what is best for the poor as if they were an inferior race. It is possible that Carpegie is liable to criticism, viewed as a man who has achieved wonderful success, -for no succes ful man can treat upon "Wealth" in the abstract to the entire satisfaction of those who have made a failure of its pursuit. The true way to look at this estion, so world-wide in its application is to examine the career of those who venture to examine the cureer of those who venture upon business enterprises, and see how they generally succeed. At the same time Caractic commerced business others as well enterpretain and perhaps better prepared than he, also started in business. Where are they? It is said that not over one in five succeed in trade even moderately. Among succeed in trade, even moderately Among those who commenced when Carnegie did. some few achieved success a very few made large fortunes, while the majority did not aven moderately prosper, and if they are shive yet are dragging along, living in a small way. Is it their fault that they failed or realized only moderate success? Or is it a matter of credit to the few who made fortunes, that they have glone so?

Some who play base ball become good play ers, some who go on the stage become good actors, and among those who practice the learned professions, a few achieve renown is the world to concemn success in every form as "monopoly" and legislate to level human effort down to mediacrity? If the genius to create tusiness enterprises is to be restrained and discouraged, then the world's progress must getbackward the genius of Edison has created wealth in a wonderful degree, and his invention has been for tered by practical minds who have furnished of money to carry his ideas to fruition The world has commenced an era of growth, development, progress and en terprise that overshadows the past and must result in such performance as the history of man cannot equal or in any way approach in the past. How to preserve the desirable equilibrium and retain the equality that has been our boast in the past, is the ques tion involved in socialism, in the doctrines of Henry George, and in the best phi-lanthropy of our time What can legisla-tion do for the masses? How can the poor retain the ability to rise? These are the questions that the world considers of para-mount importance, and their solution in-volves all the future and the good of the hu

A CHECK UPON PROFAMITY

The predatory hen and the trespassing cowmay well be reckoned among the more active agents of implety in the villages throughout the country A man's religious scruples may interpose successfully in enabling him to resist the blandishments of the Sunday excursion with its seductive ac companiments of brass music and cheap ico companiments of bra's nusic and cheap ice cream, echoes from the far away banday school lessons of his boyhood may be dis-tinct enough to check profamty during his semi-annual wrestle with the stovepipe memory of the reproachful curprise in the eyes of his mother as she fatened to his explanation of the inflamed cuttele that he had unwithin by arm set through a creat by explanation of the inflamed cutticle that he had unwittingly expused through a rent in the back of his hickory shirt in y actives a restraining power when he is tempted to speak to his wife of lodge dutter as sufficiently engrossing to keep him out until 1 A. law restricting chickens in their wanderings to the property of their owners with a pen alty of $7 and costs for each and every tres alty of $7 and costs for each and every tres passing fowl, to be inflicted upon the owner of the same. This is regarded as far super-for to the old method of popping the tres-passing hen into the pot on the sly or of wringing her neck and throwing her remains into her owner's yard. The effect of the law is sand to be misgical. Hens no longer rule the nutmeg state. Every fowl is seque-tered behind packets fifteen feet high. The result is that pence prevaits in the rural dust-acts, is that peace prevails in the rural districts, and the exponents of righteousness are pok-ing for a boom in their line at no distant

PROHIBITION

The overwhelming defeat of probibition in Pennsylvania is an event that signalizes the decadence and downfall of this erroneous completely, persups, than any other defeat that has yet been recorded Year by year the people are seeing more clearly that this method is an unphilosophical and impracti cable one, at variance with the fundamental principles of human action and moral prog ress The more it is pressed the more clearly this fact is seen Consequently prohibition, as an idea, purpose and philosophy, was stronger in its formative period of five cr six vears ago than it is now

There seems to be no probability that pro-biblion will ever be enacted as a general law in another state of our Union. It is a method of an immature social philosophy that cannot abide the test of reflection dis-cussion and experience. It is based on a radical misconception of the conditions of moral progress not less than on visionary ideas of the proper function and attenuable ends of legal enactments. Man's moral nature has its principle of growth in freedom, not in operation. Prohibition would reverse this principle and try to establish practical temperance on restrictive and oper practical temperance on restrictive and oper cave laws, rather than on growth of virtue and development of character As a theory this can no more bear discussion than in practice it can be made effective. The idea of prohibition, therefore, was stronger when of prominition, therefore, was stronger when it was novel than it has proved since it be-came a subject of examination, study and exterionce. In some degree it has been an interruption of the regular course of temper ance reform, but it is now in its decline, and as a people we shall continue to move toward the desired result on other and nat-

A few weeks ago a lachrymose public was called upon to use its handkerchief freely over the suicide of Rev Schoer, of Baltimore; He was impelled to this deadly deed because to marry him Before he made his had quietus he gathered his faculties sufficiently, to gather the letters that had passed between himself and the object of his hopeless ac ora tion and sent them to a New York paper for publication If the self-inflicted death of a publication If the self-inflicted death of a man in such circumstances is not sufficient gauge of his shallow moral calibre, the giving of these vealy letters to the public amply suffices to sound its depths , Piblic patience might tolerate a fool, especially after he was dead, and charity, by a tremendous stretch might succeed in throwing a corner of her mantle over a moral coward, but when the fool and coward effects a grand combination, and striking a tragge attitude poses for sympathy he asks too much Life, is too short to waste regrets upon a man who was professedly 'brilliant' and picus " and yet lacked the first principles of manly midnendence and reconcaste force. urdependence and rege

The Hindoos are greatly alarmed over the spread of the English vice of drinking among the natives. These people have in past ages been distinguished for some other things besides burning widows and drowning gribables, and one of these things is abstem oness and consequent sobriety. But or lization has invaded their ranks. The British vicercy has lately been presented with a memorial reciting the fact that the ancient character of these heathen subjects of her majesty has been undermined by association with the English and drinking their wines and asking for vigorous legislation as protection against this invading force. A memorial of this kind is an endorsement of the uncon-clous wisdom of the boy, who when requested to repeat an appropriate text as he dropped his nickle into the foreign miss on-ary box, exclaumed as the coin fell from his fingers with cheerful dick. 'A fool and his money is soon parted' It certainly te.s a story not especially flattering to the price of the English optimists who boast their work in Christianizing India

The large at endance at the seventeenth annual reunion of Oregon pioneers proves that the observance of holidays and festal occasions is growing in favor with the old, as well as with the young people of the country. It is seldom that so many of these sons and daughters of early Oregon have met on one of these reumons as were seen on our streets and at the appointed place of meeting Tuesday. The exercises of the day were appropriate and engagelies and the engagelies one of the day were appropriate and engagelies and the engagelies one to be remembered with pleasure

It is said that a dozen boys, rendered in sane from excessive eigaretto smoking, have been commuted to the Napa, California in-sane asylum within a year Why does not California emulate the example of Oregon and pass a law" against this vice? Our boys smoke, of course but what of thit? There is a law against it and thus protection against insanity and the minor evils that follow in the train of this dis, usting enervating, stupe ying habit is insured

Boarl of Missions will require no explanation

The recent case before the court in which the Woman's North Pacific Presbyterian Board of Missions appears as having kidnapad" a little Chinese grif for the purpose of making a little Presbyterian of her and the evident misappears as the propose of making a little Presbyterian of her and the evident misappears and many of its readers, and also the untrue statements that have come to their ears regarding the Home which they have established in Tast Portland or Chinese women and girls woo are anxious to escape from the degrading bond age it which they have established in Tast Portland or Chinese women and girls woo are anxious to escape from the degrading bond age it which they are held, have induced the members of the board to feel that the time has come for them to explain their intentions and to defire their position that their efforts in the great cause of humanity may be better understood.

It is hardly incessary to describe the purposes and the work of a charch missionary scorety, is all Christian churches of every name have their socioties of Christian en doavor," and their various organizations for tile uplifting of their followmen both in our own country and in foreign lands.

The instruction and enhiphtenment of the Chinese in this ciry has also been carried on by all the churches—each in its own way—for many years under the managem in to the Rev W T Holt and wife who were sent to this const for this purpose by the missionary pourd of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church for a period of over ten years and by long familiarity with the Chinese language and customs are thoroughly fitted for the service.

for a period of over ten years and by long famili city with the Chinese language and customs are thoroughly litted for the service.

Mrs Holt's work since coming to Polliand in 1885 has been personal visitation from house to house, where such access hat been granted her, to read to the Chinese vomen and guls in their own language and to explain to them the great principles of the Christian retigion. For the last two or three years Mrs. Holt has been accompaned in these visitations by a Chinese woman who embraced Christiantv about ten versi ago, and who is now the wife of Don Pr and who assists Mrs. Holt in her Bible readin; and in other ways. This frequent interiourse with them on three days of each work has coabled Mrs. Holt to exert an excellent in fluence over these women and in many in stances has been productive of good. It has also revealed the unner features of one of the heathouish enstoms of the Chinese, which is especially debasing to soul and body. This is the traffic in female liffants and children, which is a business with hem by which many of them become rick with no other means of support.

Little guls are bought and sold as early as 6 months old and up to any age, and during their childhood are the pets and play fallings of their owners and masters, only to be debased and crushed in a perpetual bond ge to their owners and misters. This slaver is a most hopeless one, for their masters being wholly irresponsible, and having the sole and undisputed right to use them as they prase, visit with penalties worse than leath ary attempt to escape and neither pe 1 nor tongue can portray the ferrible debasement and misery of their daily lot drugging out a kepeless, wretches existence.

tongue can portray the terrible debasement and misery of their daily lot drugging out a hereless, wretchee existence. From this degradation and misery ort W N P P Board of Missions proposes to rescue and provide homes for as many of these little gris and women as it can possibly reach by any means, and we wish it distinctly understood. These wish prained by any means, and we wish it distinctly understood. These wish prained shall not be imported into this country innopposed. The fight has only begins.

We have within a few months rented and satalished a Home for Chinese womes and girls, under a lgood and efficient in tron where they will be kindly kept and taught how to live. This Home is under the protection and supervision of the Woman's Board of the Presbyterian church and at has cone to stay. It is located on Eighth and We streets Stephens' addition, East Portland. We are confident of the sympathy and support of all benevolent people of every name increased more as the gears go on and our and and our work shill be better understood, and us results begin to appear, and we call upon all who know us as long revident in Portland, to stand y us in our unitation; efforts to accompliate the uplifting and enlightening of these poor helpless little grils and women.

TO THE CHINESE The following is a translation of a procta mation that is being circulated in Chin, town

this afternoon

As the report is being falsely stread among the Chinese houses that the har itable people who keep the Home for Chinese women and children mean to take an av all Chinese children the board wishes to nake public that its only object is to rescue little girls from houses of prostitution, and such little girls will be aken just as readily from such American houses as from Chinese. The American Jaw does not allow interfecence with respectable timilies, and no charitable American society has any idea of interfering with respectable families either Chinese or American and Chinese children properly kept, are just as safe from heng segzed as this afternoon kept, are just as safe from being seized as any children. Any report to the contrarv is false, and is probably circulated to raise 8 000 000 jar

GERMANY RE-UNITED.

The Tabernarde last night was well filled for the third time by an audience whose interest in historio scenes and places had called them out to listen to Mr. C. E. ANOTHER CALCULATION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In yesterday's issue you reproduce and comment upon on article in the New York Sun, which stated that the lake at Johnstown contained one trillion of tone of water, and that it would take this enformous quantity of water thirty hours to pass the Nagara Falls.

As a majer of fact—it the measurements of the lake are as given, it only contained in round numbers 100,000,000 tons, which would be harded out of sight in Nagara in just 10.8 seconds.
